Please answer the following questions:

1. Are you applying for Editor-in Chief, Managing Editor, or both?
2. Why do you want to be Editor-in-Chief and/or Managing Editor?
3. Please describe any previous editing, reviewing, or writing experience.
4. Please describe any experiences holding supervisory or managerial positions (including non-paid, internship, or limited-term appointments).
5. Please describe any other skills and/or experiences you have that make you an outstanding candidate for Editor-in-Chief and/or Managing Editor, including University involvement, fundraising experience, and/or leadership positions previously held.
6. Please describe what your vision is for the future of the Pepperdine Policy Review, and how you would improve or increase its stature and quality.

7. The position of Editor-in-Chief/Managing Editor will require a significant amount of your time and attention next year, particularly in the spring. What other time commitments will you have next year and how will you manage your time in order to carry out your duties as Editor-in-Chief and/or Managing Editor? If you will be a joint degree student, what portion of your time will be spent at SPP versus the other program you are specializing in?

Please include a copy of your resume and a writing sample with your application form. All applications should be submitted to ppr@pepperdine.edu by Monday, March 14th at 5PM
