

The QUEST for COMMUNITY

A FUTURE FOR AMERICAN CONSERVATISM

Friday, July 24–
Saturday, July 25

Wilburn Auditorium
Pepperdine University
Malibu, California

American conservatism stands at a crossroads. Come see leading scholars and activists debate the future of this political and intellectual movement. “The Quest for Community: A Future for American Conservatism” is aimed at a renewed understanding and application of a “conservatism of connection.” It is an approach with which we celebrate the American Constitution and the intricate system of tiered governing institutions, civic institutions, and engaged citizenry it both devises and depends upon.

Hosted by the American Project at Pepperdine School of Public Policy, our conference will examine policy and philosophical implications of this perspective in conversation with scholars, activists, and policy makers.

For more information, please contact
Pepperdine School of Public Policy at spevents@pepperdine.edu.

PEPPERDINE | SCHOOL OF PUBLIC POLICY